

2007 Annual Report

Caring Hands Touch Tomorrow

Dedication

James D. Miller
1925 ~ 2007

James D. Miller will be remembered by many titles – veteran, Sunday School teacher, deacon, and elder to name a few – but his legacy at Presbyterian Homes of Georgia is that of a bridge builder.

In 1998 when Presbyterian Homes was considering a merger with Westminster Presbyterian Homes of Georgia, Mr. Miller looked toward tomorrow and embraced the joint ministry. “He demonstrated the trust that brought the two organizations together,” said Dr. Frank H. McElroy, Jr., Presbyterian Homes of Georgia president and CEO.

Mr. Miller began serving on the board of directors for Westminster Presbyterian Homes of Georgia, which operated Calvin Court and Philips Tower, in 1988. Mr. Miller continued to serve as a trustee of the merged organization until 2000.

“He thought the merger was a really good step forward for Calvin Court and Philips Tower,” said Marjorie Miller, his wife of 58 years. “We made good friends on the board, and we enjoyed going to the meetings. We were both proud of Presbyterian Homes.”

We dedicate this Annual Report to the memory of James D. Miller in appreciation for his years of service to the residents and ministry of Presbyterian Homes of Georgia.

“Well done, good and faithful servant.” ~ Matthew 25:21

If only one image could be used to picture the ministry of Presbyterian Homes of Georgia, it would be of caring hands in service – caring hands driving joyful residents to a dance... caring hands offering a steady touch to a man learning to walk again... caring hands serving a meal to a woman who cannot afford to pay full price.

The picture might be your caring hands wrapping gifts for Santa Claus Express or writing letters to support our charitable care. Perhaps the image would be your caring hands folded in prayer for our ministry.

Now our caring hands – and yours – are reaching toward tomorrow. Hand in hand, we are building a new community, growing an endowment, establishing new traditions, offering new services. Caring Hands. It's who we are, and always will be.

President's Report

Dr. Frank H. McElroy, Jr.

President & CEO, Presbyterian Homes of Georgia

With the multitude of caring hands that make our ministry possible, Presbyterian Homes of Georgia has a rich heritage of service, and upon this foundation the future of our ministry shall be built for the glory of God. The theme of this Annual Report, Caring Hands Touch Tomorrow, expresses the commitment of the Board of Trustees, staff and a host of volunteers and donors who give time, talent, and resources to care for God's senior children now and in the future through this ministry.

During our formative years, as we struggled to demonstrate an unwavering dedication to high quality care, God's faithful few rallied in support of our mission to enhance the quality of life for senior adults by providing exceptional services. These pioneers rose to the challenge of Ecclesiastes 9:10, "whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might." Through the diligence of Trustees, donors, and staff since 1949, Presbyterian Homes of Georgia has become the standard bearer in ministering to the needs of seniors.

We built upon the sterling reputation begun at Presbyterian Home in Quitman by expanding 20 years ago to include Presbyterian Village in Austell, and again 10 years ago to include Calvin Court in Buckhead, and Philips Tower in Decatur. We continue to seek new opportunities to make a positive difference in the lives of mature adults. In 2007, we opened the doors of Presbyterian Hospice and Palliative Care Center in South Georgia, and we moved nearer to the completion of planning for a new Presbyterian Village Athens/Oconee in Northeast Georgia Presbytery.

Essential to the growth of our ministry is establishing a significant endowment with income to enable us to continue our tradition of service even when residents exhaust their personal resources. We are so very grateful that no residents have left a Presbyterian Home health services community because they could no longer afford to pay the full cost of their care. This caring hands tradition of assistance, for these who served our Lord and His church for a lifetime and who now need our nurture and support, will continue as we endow the future needs of generations yet to come. Nehemiah 2:18 reminds us to prepare for this growth: "And they said let us rise up and build. So they strengthened their hands for this good work."

The Board of Trustees of Presbyterian Homes is committed to enhancing Caring Hands Fund support through a variety of fundraising activities including the Caring Hands Classic Golf Tournament and Ceilidh Auction as well as acceptance of the John H. and Wilhelmina D. Harland Foundation Challenge to add $2 million to our permanent endowment. In addition, Trustees made a 15-year commitment to increase our current endowment from $7 million to $60 million. This dramatic increase will certainly strengthen our ability to faithfully sustain our mission even as we grow in size and in service.

As the staff provides the caring hands to steady an uncertain gait, to serve a delicious meal, to offer a life sustaining medication, or to share a favorite book, your encouragement and support are instrumental to our success. The support from your Caring Hands makes an important, positive difference in the lives of 1,000 residents every day, and your continued support will make an important, positive difference tomorrow.

"And let the beauty of the LORD, Our God, be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."
(Psalms 90:17)

Athens/Oconee Community

Presbyterian Homes of Georgia is reaching out to northeast Georgia by building a continuing care retirement community five miles from the University of Georgia. When complete, the new Presbyterian Village Athens / Oconee will offer independent living, assisted living, memory support assisted living, and skilled nursing care.

Property owner Bob Bishop, center wearing red, gives Presbyterian Homes of Georgia trustees a tour of the property where the new Presbyterian Village Athens / Oconee will be built.

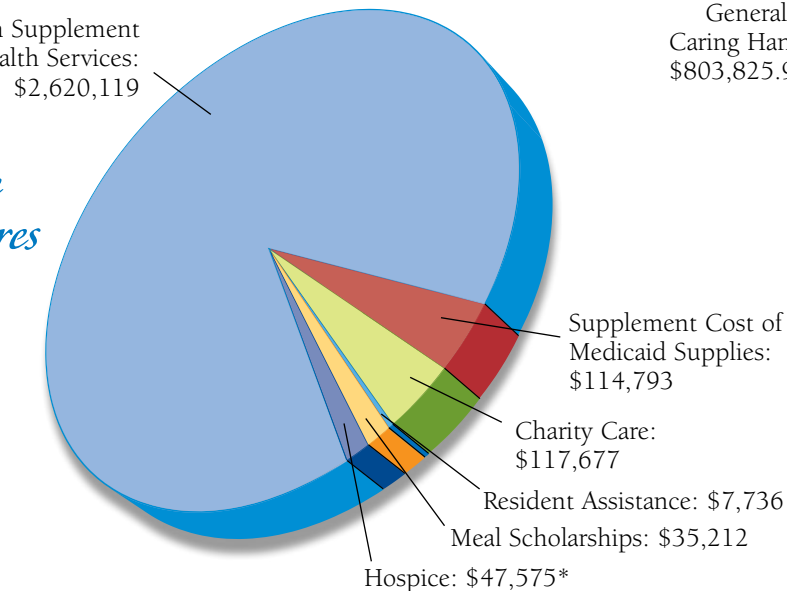

Depositors for the new Presbyterian Village Athens / Oconee are eager to see floor plans for their new homes.

Caring Hands

Donations to the Caring Hands Fund enable Presbyterian Homes of Georgia to continue our commitment to provide exceptional services to senior adults, including those whose funds have been depleted.

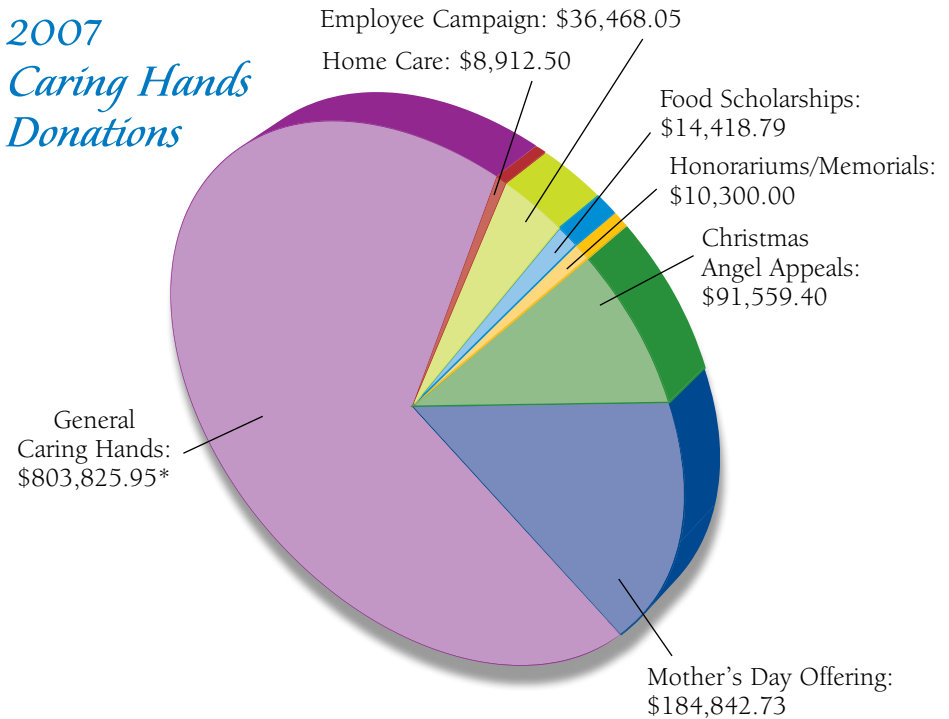

Nearly 90 percent of the charitable expenses in 2007 were used to bridge the gap between the amount Medicare reimburses and the cost of high quality care for health services residents who have outlived their resources. Caring Hands donations also provide in-home services to help independent apartment residents maintain their independence.

2007 Charitable Expenditures

* Includes unfunded Hospice start-up costs

2007 Caring Hands Donations

* Includes Caring Hands Fund, Golf Tournament, Ceilidh Auction, Newsletter, and Annual Report donations

Donors are touching tomorrow by rising to a challenge from the John H. and Wilhelmina D. Harland Foundation to ensure the future ministry of Presbyterian Homes of Georgia.

The Foundation's challenge is to raise $500,000 in cash and $1 million in planned gift expectancies by the end of 2008 in order to claim a $500,000 matching gift. "We're building on the momentum that was created last year and feel confident that we will be able to meet this challenge," said Ken Zelif, challenge committee chair.

All gifts raised through the challenge will go toward the Miriam and John A. Conant Endowment of Presbyterian Homes. The fund is named in memory of the couple who steadfastly supported Presbyterian Homes through their volunteer efforts and financial contributions.

Balance Sheet

Pat Morton, left, a resident assistant at Presbyterian Village in Austell, provides the personal attention that keeps residents like Edith Smith smiling. Mrs. Smith moved from Atlanta to an assisted living apartment in January. She says Ms. Morton "works hard all the time." Ms. Morton has cared for residents at Presbyterian Village for 18 years.

Caring Hands Classic

The first Caring Hands Classic golf tournament featured a competition among church teams for the Knox Cup. The Covenant-Reid team from Augusta won the first Knox Challenge. From left, Jerry Dean Weber and Davis Stewart present the Knox Cup to team members John Lee and Chuck Baldwin. The Augusta team has registered for the 2008 tournament and is ready to defend the Knox Cup title.

A new tradition was established in 2007 with the first Caring Hands Classic golf tournament and Ceilidh auction. The combined events netted more than $94,000 for the Caring Hands Fund, which is considered overwhelmingly successful for an inaugural event.

The success was due to countless volunteer efforts and financial contributions from businesses such as Security Bank, the title sponsor. Other companies which contributed financially or with in-kind donations are included as business supporters on page 28.

The Ceilidh – a Gaelic word for party – preceded the golf tournament. Auction items ranged from a marlin fishing trip in the Bahamas, to a tour of the Hendrick Motorsports facility, to original art by Presbyterian Homes of Georgia residents.

The more than 160 golfers who participated in the tournament especially enjoyed the e-scoring system that allowed them to record their scores at each hole using a BlackBerry. Using the real-time system meant players could see their standings throughout the tournament, and scores were calculated quickly at the end of the day.

Gene Clark demonstrates his weight lifting ability in the fitness center at Calvin Court. In addition to using the facility to stay in shape, Mr. Clark volunteers at the fitness center several times each month.

Presbyterian Homes of Georgia enjoys the privilege of being in a covenant relationship with the state's five presbyteries. We deeply appreciate each member and minister who makes our shared ministry successful. This year we are consolidating the records of church giving in order to allow us to share more photographs and stories from our ministry. The total financial contribution listed for each congregation includes gifts to the Mother's Day Offering, Angel Offering, general Caring Hands Fund donations, and contributions from special events such as the Caring Hands Classic golf tournament. Groups which make donations to the Caring Hands Fund are listed individually, but their gifts are included in the church's total.

John Dewey enjoys a visit with Sadie, an employee's pet who makes regular rounds at Presbyterian Home and Retirement Center in Quitman. At age 100, Mr. Dewey is the oldest resident on the Quitman campus.

Hospice

The new Presbyterian Hospice and Palliative Care Center has already been a comfort to people in South Georgia.

“It was a godsend for me,” said Ann Wahl whose husband, Budd, died from bone cancer in May. “The Hospice staff knew how to make him comfortable in a terrible situation and how to make things easier for me.”

When Mr. Wahl became immobile, he decided to move to Presbyterian Home and Retirement Community in Quitman. “By the time he transferred to hospice care, we already knew the nurses and the social worker and the chaplain as friends,” Mrs. Wahl said. “It was a great comfort to not fear what to do next.”

Eighteen people were served in 2007, the Hospice’s first year of organization. The ministry now extends to five counties. “We’re a home-based program,” said Mary Weber, Executive Director. “We serve people in the place where they reside, whether that’s at Presbyterian Home in Quitman or in their homes in the community.”

The staff of nurses, social worker and chaplain offer comfort to residents as well as their loved ones. “To walk the last journey of life with someone is a very intimate time, and it’s very rewarding,” Ms. Weber said.

We extend humble gratitude to every individual who provided financial assistance in 2007. These gifts allow Presbyterian Homes of Georgia to continue our long-held tradition of quality care and look confidently toward the future. In recognition of donors who consistently contribute to this ministry, this list is organized by years of consecutive gifts.

Panthie H. Sass, right, says the friendliness of Stacy Banworth, housing and program director at Philips Tower, was one of the reasons she chose to live in the Decatur community when she moved from the Bronx last year. She also likes the location – Philips Tower is close to her daughter as well as a library, bank, church, pharmacy, and restaurants.

Bequests

Memorials

L.J. and Ann Rainey, left, come to Presbyterian Village in Austell every Thursday to play canasta with their friends Rev. Joe and Pat Humphries. The Rev. Humphries is a retired United Methodist minister, and he and his wife live in a retirement apartment at Presbyterian Village in Austell where they enjoy living close to friends.

Susan Bistline moved from San Francisco to Philips Tower last December to be near her family, and she has become a fan of Presbyterian Homes of Georgia. "I am so happy here, I can't tell you," she says. "I see kindness; I see people trying to help. This is such a breath of fresh air."

A highlight of the 20th anniversary celebration at Presbyterian Village in Austell last November was a luminary ceremony with 1,240 candles surrounding the lake. The candles represented the number of people, including current residents, who have been served in Austell.
